The Booke of Common prayer 1580
(-) The Booke of Common prayer, and administration of the Sacraments and other rites and ceremonies in the Church of England (and) The psalter or psalmes of Dauid, after the translation of the great Bible. Imprinted at London: by Christopher Barker, printer to the Queenes maiestie (1580) ESTC S93790; STC (2nd ed) 16307; Griffiths 1580:1 Folio, pages unnumbered (448pp); signatures (3 dots in triangle)8 (paragraph mark)10 A-P8 Q6 A-K8
Black letter with large woodcut initials. The Psalter has seperate title-page and register. This edition is exceptionally rare, three recorded copies - at British Library (2) and at John Rylands Library, all of which are defective and all lack title leaf. No copy in Book Auction Records since 1908. Binding is full tree calf (but not recent) rebacking with red morocco title-label, mild cracking to joints but a sound and attractive copy.
Condition - Lacks the first four leaves, otherwise complete: 220 leaves present of 224;
Good margins (page size 27 x 18cm); foot of of first few leaves has been damped, causing brittleness of lower vmargin with occasional short loss affecting a few words from bottom of corner of Q2'
2 leaves of first signature loose, these mildly frayed at outer edges; tiny wormhole in some lower margins (not affecting text) some mild staining and browning.
A very, very rare Elizabethan volume, unusually with no example in North America, only the 2 in London and one in Manchester. Here under Elizabeth I, the theology of the Holy Communion combined that of previous Prayer Books from 1549 and 1552. Here are printed the sentences for the administration of the Holy Sacraments that combine the traditional sentence incorporating the Catholic idea of transubstantiation with the reformist view of a memorial feast. Now under Elizabeth I as Governor of the church, we have the combination that allows different understandings to be held in the doctrine of the Real Presence which Elizabeth held to be both proper and meaningful. This was a theology comfortable and workable to the present day in the world-wide Anglican Communion and Episcopalian Churches. Along with other changes it is a credit to Elizabethan statesmanship which also allowed a breadth in understanding that was more than just timely and practical, it allowed a wider compass of acceptance.

Austen, Jane, Northanger Abbey and

Persuasion (4 Volumes),
By The Author Of "Pride And Prejudice," " Mansfield Park," etc. With A Biographical Notice Of The Author. John Murray, London, 1818.
Condition; general conditions throughout, scuffed boards, foxing, staining and dirt marks, occasional creasing where pages were folded. Each volume is inscribed on the upper fly-leaf by what looks like I. B. Stewart, Delliefure (Scotland) 1921. Each title page is signed A. G. Stevenson, 1818. Volume 1 is complete, though the half-title Northanger Abbey is damaged on the fore-edge (leaf A11). There is some underlining on pages 163 and 164, with a related comment along the outer margin on page 163 that reads
:The world has not changed one whit 1921" presumably written by Stewart. Leaf L6 is slightly damaged on the lower edge near the inner margin. Volumes II to IV are incomplete, each lacking their half-title. Volume II, 14 similar damage to the leaf as L6 in Vol I. Looks to be slightly folded under. O1 has what might be called an unidentified accretion in the upper right corner. Volume III, K11 and K12, minor chipping, L6 and L7 another unidentified accretion, appears oil based. Volume IV, H10 torn and missing part of fore-edge but no loss to the text. Written on the verso of the final blank is :a grand story", which looks to be Stewart again. 19th century half leather bindings and although not the original (would have been paper covered boards) and later ,certainly not by much.
An exceptionally rare, iconic and complete first edition, completed in 1803, the first of Austens novels completed in full but published posthumously in 1817 with Persuasion.
